How will I be assessed? · Would You Swap Your Phone for the Wild? Humans and Nature

The final task. Group presentation (B1–B2): propose a new protected area, with a map, a photo in Adams's style and three rules.

Two kinds of assessment

During the sequence: formative assessment	At the end: summative assessment
It helps you improve.	It checks what you have learnt.
You are allowed to make mistakes: a mistake you spot is a mistake you will not make again.	You show what you can do, with criteria you already know.
You check your own work with the checklist.	The teacher uses the same grid as you.
sessions 1 to 5 (the vote, the poster caption, the Maathai chain, the safety leaflet, Park Ranger).	your part of the group presentation (at least 1 minute), marked out of 20.

What I need to do: I tick when it is done

Done	Criterion, in simple words
☐	I answer the question and my position is clear.
☐	I use one figure or event of the journey with a correct fact.
☐	I give one rule for the park and I explain why.
☐	I speak from keywords, not from a written text, and I look at the audience.
☐	I use sentence starters, connectors and four words from the journey.

Thinking about my work

- "I can already…"
- "I still find it hard to…"
- "The criterion I do best is… because…"
- "To improve, I will…"

MODEL ANSWER

Our park will protect a coastal forest in the Pacific Northwest. This place matters because it is home to salmon, bears and very old trees. Like John Muir, who convinced President Roosevelt to protect Yosemite in 1903, we believe that people protect what they love. That is why we took a black-and-white photo in the style of Ansel Adams, with no roads and no people. Our first rule is: visitors must stay on the paths, because the soil is fragile. Our second rule is: no fires, because the Los Angeles fires of January 2025 showed how fast a fire can spread with dry vegetation and strong winds. Finally, like Wangari Maathai, who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 2004, we want local people to plant trees and to guide visitors. Protecting nature is good for animals and for us.

Criterion by criterion

Criterion	Full points	Partial points	0 points
1. Task and message (4)	Clear answer to the question, position stated at the start and at the end.	Position unclear or only at the end.	Off topic or no position.
2. Facts from the journey (5)	At least two accurate facts or quotes from the documents, with names and dates.	One accurate fact, or facts with errors in names or dates.	No fact from the journey.
3. Rules for the park (4)	Done fully and clearly.	Done partly, or not linked to the topic.	Missing.
4. Speaking without reading (3)	Notes are keywords only; voice and eye contact help the audience.	Reads for part of the time.	Reads the whole time.
5. Language (4)	Varied starters and connectors, four or more journey words, meaning always clear.	Few connectors or journey words; meaning sometimes unclear.	Meaning often unclear.

Common mistakes to watch for

- “Yosemite was the first national park”: it was Yellowstone, in 1872.
- Confusing Ansel Adams (photographer) and John Muir (writer).
- Rules with no reason.
- One student speaks for the whole group.
